

INTRODUCTION

Foreword	6
Paul Davidson, President AUCC—Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada, Ottawa, Canada
Collection of ideas and models	7
How to build success? By learning from others
Carl G. Amrhein, Editor, Provost and Vice-President (Academic), University of Alberta, Canada, and Visiting Executive, The Conference Board of Canada, Canada

THE GLOBAL UNIVERSITY

The Global University	27
How do we ensure Canada’s universities continue to be at the forefront amidst growing competition?
Paul Davidson, President AUCC—Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada, Ottawa, Canada
Universities between globalization and a globalized world	37
Lines of thought on whether Canada and its universities are ready to face the new global context
Gilles Breton, Professor, Graduate School of Public and International Affairs, University of Ottawa, Canada
What is international?	48
The rise of a notion
Britta Baron, Vice-Provost and Associate Vice-President (International), University of Alberta, Canada
Between regional embeddedness and an international standard	56
How a young German university tries to position itself in the modern scientific global society
Gerhard Sagerer, Rector, Bielefeld University, Germany
Globalization then and now	70
Universities and the imperative of a broader U.S. perspective*
John Aubrey Douglass, Senior Research Fellow, Public Policy and Higher Education Center for Studies in Higher Education, C. Judson King and Irwin Feller, Professors, University of California, Berkeley, United States
A Canadian Vignette	81
The Story of UBC
David H. Farrar, Provost and Vice-President Academic, The University of British Columbia, Canada

DEFINING SUCCESS

Quantitative successes will not bring long-term stability	91
Variables and constants—the higher education system in the People’s Republic China has been and continues to be everything but uniform
Josef Goldberger, Lecturer, Department of Foreign Languages and Literature, German Teaching and Research Office, Tsinghua University, Beijing, China
Socialist cause and modernization drive	101
Anticipate the future: Chinese universities show a mixed story of success, crisis, promise and rich educational traditions to be revitalized
Qiang Zha, Associate Professor, Faculty of Education, York University, Canada
Fostering talent and scientific research	119
Supporting study abroad plus increasing study in—steps to the further development of Chinese universities
Yang Xinyu, Deputy Secretary-General, China Scholarship Council, Beijing

RESEARCH AND THE FORMATION OF KNOWLEDGE

Producers of systematic new knowledge and interpretations	129
Universities in British higher education—chief building blocks to answer the question: Where next?
Nigel Thrift, Vice-Chancellor and President, University of Warwick, United Kingdom
Gate to learning the truth	148
The new global multiversity creates both new knowledge and wisdom
Jayanti S. Ravi, Commissioner, Higher Education and C&D, Knowledge Consortium of Gujarat, India
The role of international research networks in global universities	157
Emergence of international research collaborations and the effect they are having on recognition and impact
Pekka Sinervo, Vice-President, Research, CIFAR (Canadian Institute for Advanced Research) and University of Toronto, Canada and Denis Therien, Vice-President CIFAR and McGill University, Montréal, Canada
Being different together	166
The fruitful parallel existence of university and extra-university research in Germany
Jürgen Mlynek, President, Helmholtz Association of German Research Centers, Berlin, Germany
How to stay with principles and ideals in the rapid changing world of higher education?	170
Finding a role in a rapid changing world of higher education
Allan Rock, President and Vice-Chancellor, University of Ottawa, Canada

Remarkable transformation of Australian higher education	177
The international student market is changing and will require Australia to rethink its offerings to ensure it continues to attract students
Margaret Sheil, Provost at the University of Melbourne, and Gwilym Croucher, higher education policy analyst at the University of Melbourne, Australia

GOVERNANCE, REGULATION AND FUNDING

University governance in a globalized world	189
Without major breakthroughs in basic and strategic research many of the problems—current and future—cannot be solved
Wilhelm Krull, Secretary General, Volkswagen Foundation, Hannover, Germany

Incentives in financing higher education	204
Shift from supply-side subsidies to demand-side subsidies
Daniel W. Lang, Professor, Department of Theory and Policy Studies, University of Toronto, Canada

Past and present	237
Trends at the Brazilian research university
Carlos H. de Brito Cruz, Professor, Institute of Physics “Gleb Wataghin”, Renato H. L. Pedrosa, Associate Professor, Department of Science and Technology Policy, Institute of Geosciences, University of Campinas—Unicamp, São Paulo, Brazil

Universities have never been far removed from the government	252
Development of higher education in China—de-administration is an important goal
Maode Lai, President, China Pharmaceutical University, Nanjing, China

Post-secondary education: an intergovernmental anomaly	257
The provincial role, federal involvement and the intergovernmental perspective
J. Peter Meekison, Professor-Emeritus, University of Alberta, Edmonton, Canada

OUTLOOK

Where might we be headed?	281
The key indicators: how to build success in a global university
Carl G. Amrhein, Editor, Provost and Vice-President (Academic), University of Alberta, Canada, and Visiting Executive, The Conference Board of Canada, Canada

Authors	294
---------	-----